Anima Dance Farewell Season

Anima Dance, a Durham-based modern dance company, will be presenting a farewell season this fall before director Rachel Brooker's move to Chicago in December. She'll continue to return to NC regularly to teach and perform, but this is the final home season! Catch Brooker's solo New Pants or the latest installment of the Murakami cycle, Naoko's Dream, at three different venues this fall. For more information, visit www.animadance.org.

Fieldwork Showing, Durham, NC

Sunday, December 4, 3 pm

Durham Arts Council PSI Theater

Suggested donation of $2 will support continued work by The Field NC

Rachel Brooker, Nancy Simpson Carter and others will show choreography in an informal setting. The audience will then be invited to give feedback using the Fieldwork feedback system, which will be introduced before the performance. This is a wonderful opportunity for the artists to hear from the audience, and for the audience to contribute to the creative process.

The Field offers programs that help independent artists create new artwork, manage their careers, and develop long-range strategies for sustaining a life in the arts. For the public, we make the work of hundreds of artists in New York and our network of sites, accessible on an intimate basis through several performance series. Each year, The Field serves over 1,500 artists in the disciplines of dance, theater, music, text, performance art and film/video. www.thefield.org
